Professor W. R. Vance Made Dean of the Law Department

As the University had to give up Dean Henry St. George Tucker, it was most fortunate that there was such a worthy successor as Prof. Vance at hand. The students, without exception, were wild with joy when it was announced that one who had endeared himself to all, as has Prof. Vance, was to be made Dean. Perhaps there was never a professor who had such a place in the affections of the whole student body as he has. He has won them by his honesty, sincerity and earnestness in all his dealings with them. The students have learned to depend absolutely upon what he says and to believe that he is imparting to them the best of which he is capable, and to look upon him as a "man" in every respect.

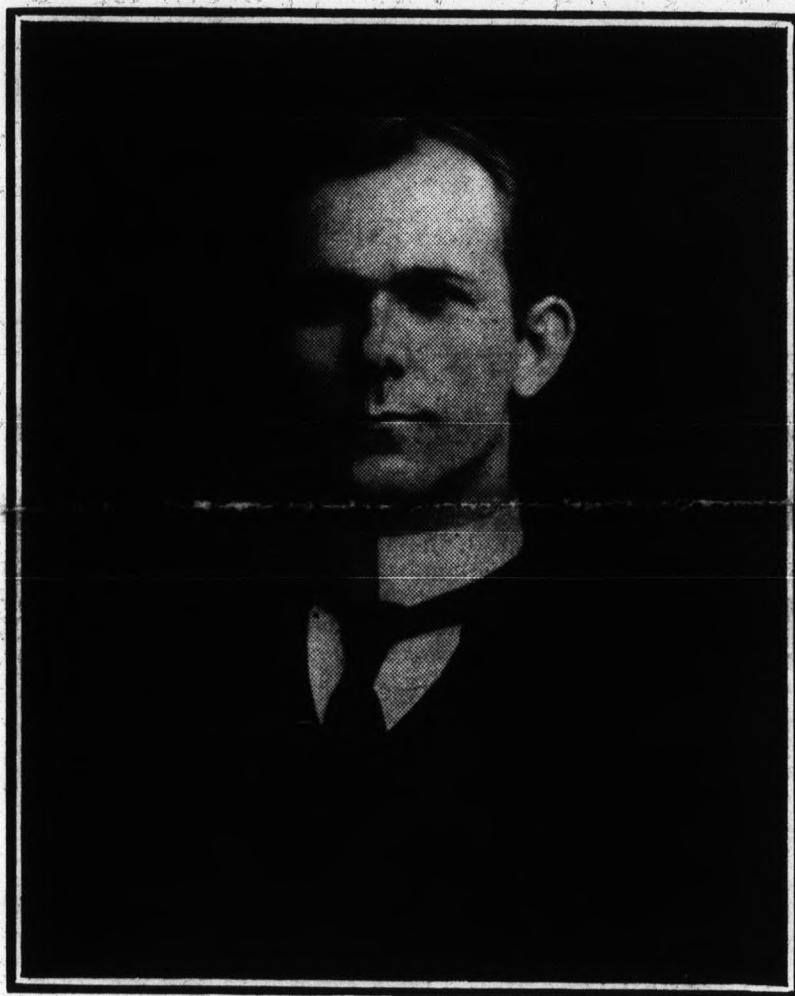

Prof. Vance has been here two years, giving his whole time to the work. He was born at Middletown, Ky., on May 9, 1870. Graduating with honors in 1888 from an academy in Shelbyville, Ky., he received an appointment as teacher of mathematics and Latin in the West Georgia Agricultural and Mechanical College, at Hamilton, Ga. In 1890 he entered Washington and Lee University, winning the degree of bachelor of arts after two years, a feat that has, perhaps, not been before or since accomplished in that institution. Being then appointed to the Mapleson scholarship, he took his master's degree in 1893, and then, as incumbent of the Howard Houston fellowship, continued his post graduate studies in History, English and Constitutional law. In 1895 he received the degree of doctor of philosophy, presenting as his thesis a brief historical treatise entitled "Slavery in Kentucky," which has since been published by the university. During the years 1891-95 he was also instructor in English in the university.

Graduating in law in 1897, he began to practice in Louisville, Ky., but was shortly thereafter elected adjunct professor of law in his alma mater, Washington and Lee University. In 1890 he was promoted to a professorship and began to devote special study to the law of real estate and of insurance, in which branches his special interest still continues. At this time he began the work which he has recently published under the title "Vance on Insurance."

Upon Henry St. George Tucker's resignation as Dean of the department of law in Washington and Lee University in 1902, Prof. Vance was chosen to succeed him. In the following year he resigned this position to accept a professorship in The George Washington University.

Prof. Vance is a member of the Virginia and American Bar Associations, and presented the minority report of the American Bar Association's committee on insurance law at the Association's last meeting at Narragansett Pier.

In September, 1902, he was married to Miss Annie Wilmer Hume, oldest daughter of Dr. Thomas Hume, professor of English literature in the University of North Carolina.

DEAN W. R. VANCE

Henry St. George Tucker

The University regrets to lose Dean Tucker. He is a man of remarkable ability, and during his short stay as Dean of the Law Department he so broadened the field of the work and put things on such a high plane of conduct that his influence will be felt for many years to come.

He is a man fitted for big things, as is attested by the position to which he has been called, President of the Jamestown Exposition Company, and his election last year to the Presidency of the American Bar Association. He is eminently qualified for the execution of the difficult work that his present position entails, but the University would have been glad had his ability not been so patent that Virginia should search him out here, where he was doing such a valuable work.

His success will be followed with interest by every student of the University, and all will remember with pride that it once had the honor to claim him as Dean, and will gather reflected glory from the further honor that is sure to come to him in his career.

Dr. E. H. Nichols, of Harvard, says that within a few days President Roosevelt will issue a statement regarding the conference of football men held in Washington, Monday. Until this is published, the Harvard, Yale and Princeton men have agreed to remain silent.

George Washington-Swarthmore Game

The University team met its first defeat this season at Swarthmore, Pa. The victorious team was superior to our own in every respect. Our men were out of their class and that is the story of their defeat. The Swarthmore eleven is perhaps the best team of the smaller colleges in the East, and it could scarcely be expected that George Washington would come back with the crown of victory resting on its brow. Notwithstanding the odds that were against us, the boys played well and were a credit to the University. They learned many lessons from the game and the defeat will spur them on to better things later in the season. The game was free from all unnecessary roughness, the officials not being obliged to warn a player on either side for rough playing.

It took just two minutes to make the first touchdown. Captain Crowell kicked off and sent the ball over the goal line. Stevenson touched the ball down for a touchback and punted from the 25-yard line. Crowell caught the ball and advanced it twenty yards. The Swarthmore then tore through our line for long gains, finally making a touchdown. Crowell again kicked over the goal line and scored on Stevenson's punt from the 25-yard line, running fifty yards through the whole Washington team. It was a very sensational play and deserved the round of applause it brought forth. The remainder of the half was taken up in scoring two more touchdowns leaving the score at the end of first-half 24-0.

In the second half our men took a brace and while they could do nothing against the heavy line of Swarthmore in offensive work, they held them down pretty well with their defense. The touchdown of Swarthmore in the second-half was earned by hard work.

The game on a whole was a pretty one, and while a defeat, it should not be a bitter one, when the strength of our opponents is taken into consideration. The people of this city will have an opportunity of seeing what kind of a team Swarthmore is on next Saturday, and we hope that those who criticised us adversely will change their opinions then. The line up:

LAW NOTES

Political rumors are afloat in the class of '07 Law.

Several of the most prominent and popular men of the class are being discussed in connection with the Presidency, and before very long the situation will assume the aspect of a true political fight.—"Lay on Macduff —."

An Interclass debate between the three undergraduate classes of the Law School would be a new and a very excellent thing. The matter has been discussed to some extent but nothing definite, so far, has been accomplished. Some good hustler should get behind and push.

The famous Tight Wad Club of '06 had a meeting Friday night at "You Know Where." By the exercise of great business judgment and a splendid exhibition of modern financeering on the part of the treasurer pro tem., the Club now has a sinking fund of 27 cents. This will be known as the Hospital Fund, and the Club hopes to eventually be able to buy a cot at the Hospital for practical use.

Our genial ex-Dean was offered a good thing, and, of course, "tucker." Oh, fudge!

Smoking should not be permitted in the lobby. The library or the President's office should be used for that purpose.

Those who entered the preliminaries for the Virginia Debate and were apprehensive as to their audience, perhaps were disappointed that they did not behold a sea of fluttering handkerchiefs and were not greeted by rousing applause. The hall was practically empty. Splendid training for embryo actors!

Justice Harlan resumed his lectures with the First Year last week, on the subject of Torts. He will take up Constitutional Law in the Second Semester.

Justice Brewer is now delivering his lectures on International Law.

Before this issue appears, the bloody election of '06 will have been perpetrated. The predictions are that there will be a "landslide," but which way, nobody knows.

C. M. Booth, '06, will pursue a special course this year instead of the regular Third Year work.

He will take the District Bar examination in November and the examination for admission to the Indiana Bar Association, in December.

First Year Law

The First Year Law class is, by a series of meetings, perfecting its organization, and expects shortly to elect permanent officers.

A class smoker will be given in the near future, and indications are bright for a highly successful evening's entertainment.

The class has adopted a "yell" and will spring it on the school at the first opportunity. It is reported to be a "lahlahpalooza," whatever that is.

Notice, Law, '07!

The election of officers in the Second Year Law will be held Tuesday evening, October 24th, in Jurisprudence Hall, during the time of the second hour.

Personal

The local chapter of Pi Beta Phi is glad to welcome to the George Washington University three girls from sister chapters: Miss Mabel Scott and Miss Pauline De Isie from the Woman's College, of Baltimore, and Miss Adair Taylor, from Newcomb College, of the Tulane University.

New Members of the Faculty

President Needham has announced the following additions to the faculty:

Dr. George L. Raymond, professor of Aesthetics, from Princeton University; Prof. Williston S. Hough, professor of philosophy, from University of Minnesota; Dr. Henry Parker Willis, professor of finance, from Washington and Lee University; Dr. Walter F. Dodd, instructor in political science, from University of Chicago; Dr. Ashton W. McWhorten, instructor in Greek and Latin, Johns Hopkins University; Mr. Alfred F. W. Schmidt, instructor in German, from Leland Stanford University; Mr. Albert B. Bibb, professor of architecture; Dr. Henry A. Pressy, professor civil engineering; Mr. Philander Betts, assistant professor of mechanical engineering; Mr. James L. Arnott, assistant professor of civil engineering, from Massachusetts School of Technology; Gen. Henry L. Abbot, professor of hydraulic engineering; Judge Charles H. Duell, lecturer on patent law.

Coach Bill Reid, at Harvard, is laying down the law to all laggards and truants. Fraternity distinction and other matters of social standing are all leveled by him on the foot ball field.

Michigan scored the first touch-down in the game with Case School last week in one minute. Hurry Up Yost believes in winning games as fast as possible.

We desire to call the Students attention to the innovation of Robert Fox & Co., who have opened a George Washington University Wardrobe where you may keep your clothes and have them cleaned and pressed as often as you desire.

This feature is exclusively for George Washington Students and no doubt will be taken advantage of by many of the boys. The cost is only one dollar a month.

Ten Commandments For Students

1. Thou shalt have no other than thy lexicon to aid thee in thy translations.
2. Thou shalt not love a school-girl, nor bow down thyself to her, nor in any way act the gentlemen toward her, for the Legislature is a jealous Legislature, visiting the punishment of the law upon such as break this commandment.
3. Thou shalt not cut recitations, for the faculty will not hold him guiltless that doeth this evil.
4. Six days shalt thou labor and do seven days' work.
5. Honor thy professor and thy sub-professor that thy grades may be high in the studies which they give thee.
6. Thou shalt not kill time.
7. Thou shalt not squander thy money on the "merry-go-round."
8. Thou shalt not forget to return that which thou borrowest of thy neighbor.
9. Thou shalt not leave unpaid the bills which thou owest.
10. Thou shalt not forget former days and be unmerciful unto the freshman.—Et.

"We have often thought how nice it would be if examiners in schools would ask automatic, back-action questions, that would not require too much of the students—like these:

1. Watt was the name of the inventor of the Steam Engine?
2. Ware was the terminus of John Gilpin's famous ride?
3. Howe was the name pronounced for the author "Uncle Tom's Cabin"?
4. Witchcraft was persecuted by the Puritans of New England?
5. Wye is a river running in Wessep, England?
6. The inventor of the sewing machine is called Howe?
7. If Sir Walter Scott's dog was worth £50, what was his novel Kenilworth?"

The total registration at the University of Pennsylvania this year, is 3,243. The University contemplates giving the 'Varsity "P" to the men who make a University debating team during the year.

The total enrollment at Harvard this year, is 3,865, as against 4,004 at this time last year.

We all enjoyed Dean Wilbur's talk in University Hall at last Wednesday's conference. We always enjoy Dean Wilbur's talks and can't hear too many of them. But we also feel that Dr. Needham belongs to us on the occasion of those Wednesday conferences, and we missed him from the last one. We can not let you go on Wednesdays, Dr. Needham.

Which?

My Pearl
Is a Fairmont girl,
With tresses of raven hue;
A deep brunette,
A great coquette,
That "hearts" is her game, I rue.

My Pearl
Is a Hamilton girl,
With smiling and winsome ways;
With eyes like night—
When stars shine bright,
Through the veil of autumn haze.

My Pearl
Is a Gunston girl,
With a wealth of golden hair,
With eyes so blue,
And a heart so true,
And a face surpassing fair.

My Pearl
Is a Forest Glen girl,
In learning deep, I ween;
In a college gown,
She parades the town,
A demure and stately queen.

Omega Alpha

The Omega Alphas entertained a few friends Friday evening, September 29th, at the home of Miss Green. The evening was enjoyably spent in playing several clever games, which had been arranged by the hostess. After refreshments were served the girls joined in singing college songs and at a late hour the company broke up, all agreeing that the evening had been most pleasantly spent.

The Omega Alpha fraternity entertained Friday, at the Tea-Cup Inn, where a luncheon of fourteen covers was served in the Green Room. The decorations, which were in green and pale yellow, were especially pleasing and altogether, the affair must have been a decided success, if the forgetfulness of time and duty, which the usually conscientious Freshmen displayed, may be taken as a test.

The Omega Alpha fraternity entertained a few friends with a launching party Saturday, October 14, leaving the wharf at 10 in the morning, the party landed at River View where a picnic lunch was served. The afternoon was spent in wandering over the deserted grounds and at a late hour, the merry crowd returned to the city.

Chi Omega

On Friday, October 13, the Chi Omega fraternity entertained a number of the freshmen with an informal luncheon at their apartment in the Rochambeau in order that they might meet Miss Harnish, a Chi Omega alumna, who happened to be in Washington for a day. Miss Harnish is well known in musical circles in New York. She has a fine dramatic soprano and added to the enjoyment of the occasion by her singing. Miss Williston Hough was present and delighted every one with her wonderful skill as a pianist.

On Saturday evening, October 14th, the Chi Omega fraternity, and a number of their friends were entertained at the home of Miss May Walkup, on Omaha Avenue. A huge bon fire was built near the park and the guests toasted marshmallows on long sticks, played games, danced and sang and enjoyed themselves as only a company of congenial college students can.

We hear that Mrs. Mary Bain had the Chi Omega's and their friends to breakfast Saturday, the fourteenth, and that all had a very happy time, but no particulars have reached us.

An Unlucky Affair

One of the most enjoyable and novel social events of the season occurred on Friday evening, the thirteenth, when the Pi Beta Phi Fraternity entertained the Freshman girls at the home of Miss MacLeod, 1347 Princeton street. The object of the evening was to carry out the idea of unluckiness. At thirteen tables demonstrations of the black art were practiced on the wondering guests. He who passed successfully through this wierd test was awarded with an object of good luck, whereas the unsuccessful one received an ill-omened prize. After a dainty repast, the gay crowd sang and danced into the wee small hours of the morning. The affair was voted a great success.

The Woman's League

Those of the girls who remember the good times offered last year by the Woman's League socials, will hail with delight the prospect of another one. On October 19th, the library will be gay and festive with the revelry of the co-eds, as they indulge in Halloween games and fortunes, not to mention the gingerbread and apples and taffy and nuts, appropriate to the season. This first affair will be in the nature of an introduction to the new girls, who may still be ignorant of the joys of a party strictly feminine. Invitations have been sent to all and it is hoped that there will be an enthusiastic crowd, to welcome the newcomers. It is a matter of regret that the president of the organization, Miss Julia Macmillan, will not be able to be present, owing to her recent illness.

Pi Beta Phi

On Tuesday evening, the tenth of October, Pi Beta Phi gave a card party for the Freshman girls, at Miss Margaret Merrill's home. The game of "500" proved to be very exciting and jolly. The guests of the evening were: Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. Hodgkins, Mrs. Hough, Miss Staffer, Miss Cockran, the Misses Stansbury, Miss Root, Miss Farrington and Miss MacKnew.

Enosinian Society

The Enosinian Society will meet on Friday night at eight o'clock. The question for debate is Resolved, That the United States should adopt a permanent colonial policy.

The affirmative will be upheld by Messrs. Block and Marye, while Misses Connor and McAvoy will defend the negative.

Girls' Mandolin Club

The outlook for this club is very bright. Miss Cochran has already received a number of responses to the call in last week's HATCHET, and the first rehearsal will be held at an early date.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1905

Although we were defeated by Swathmore last Saturday, that should in no wise discourage us, for it is a team far stronger than we are accustomed to play. The University of Pennsylvania called their game with Swathmore the hardest and fiercest game they would have to play this season, saying that two or three of the players could make any team in the country. As it was the score was close, 11 to 4. Our neighbors were beaten by a larger score than this a week ago and again last week, so that "there are others." A team can often learn more from one game with a first-class one like this, than from days of practice. It does a team good to go up against a real team, that is in the class of the best in the country, even though it goes in with the certainty of being defeated. We can rest assured that we will meet no more teams as strong as that this season, and should get courage from the fact that we were not overwhelmingly defeated even by such a heavy and experienced team.

We regret to report that, owing to the press of other work, Mr. C. M. Booth has resigned his position as Editor for the Law Department. His successor has not yet been appointed.

Mall Editors

The attention of all classes is again called to the importance of electing their representatives on the "Mall" Staff. This should be done when the regular elections for presidents are held. It is urged that great care be used in selecting the editor. He should not be chosen through popularity or politics, but by virtue of his fitness for the work. The representation of the class in the "Mall" will be good or bad, according to the work of its editor. Therefore, select a man who will do the work faithfully and with enthusiasm. The Editor-in-Chief can not get in close touch with each class, but will have to depend on the Class Editors to portray the life and spirit of their own classes. If the representatives take little interest in the work and do it in a half-hearted way, the class can not receive the praise that may be due them for a brilliant year's record.

Select the best man and at the earliest opportunity.

To Department Editors

We are compelled to again call the attention of some of the staff editors to the necessity of watching after the doings of your department and seeing that all such things find their way to The Hatchet. We don't intend to have any "dead-heads" on the staff, for it is an injustice to any department to be represented by an indifferent editor, for it is made to appear that that particular department is of very little importance and that nothing is ever done there. If you don't intend to do the work assigned you, hand in your resignation at once and we will get someone on whom we can depend.

At the National College Editors' Convention, at the St. Louis Exposition, it was found that nine-tenths of the editors-in-chief did absolutely no writing for the paper, except the editorials, giving their undivided attention to the general make-up of the paper, the cutting down and revision of articles submitted and the arrangement and proof reading of the paper. Now we do not expect nor wish to be relieved of the hard work necessary to keep The Hatchet up to the standard, but just toward that very end, we wish to enlist and arouse a more general student and faculty interest in the make-up of our college paper. We wish it to represent the work and interest not of three or four, but of all.

College of Engineering

In addition to the gift of Mr. George Westinghouse of a lot of electrical machinery comprising motors, dynamos, transformers, etc., as announced in our last issue, the College is in receipt of a valuable gift from the De La Verne Machine Company, of New York, consisting of a complete ice producing plant for purposes of demonstration, instruction and tests in mechanical refrigeration and ice making. The plant will be installed shortly in the Van Ness Mansion under the direction of Prof. Van Vleck.

In cleaning out the library this summer Miss Freebey, collected a large number of engineering magazines which have been accumulating on the shelves for several years. They have now been arranged conveniently for the use of engineering students. Prof. Betts will now have the chance to instruct some of our youthful prodigies in the shop-work class in the art of building a case, which will not fall to pieces with the weight of knowledge to be placed in it.

A Suggestion

The George Washington University has an annual, The Mall, which is intended to be a history of the achievements of the students of all departments of the University along literary and athletic lines, a resume of the year's life of the students. It has a weekly newspaper, The Hatchet, through which the students are kept informed from week to week of all that goes on among themselves and the college world generally.

But we have no strictly literary magazine, such as is conducted by the students in most of the other large universities. The time has come in our development when we should have a periodical covering a field of student life here that is as yet unexplored. This magazine should be issued monthly and contain original stories, poems, literary criticisms and all student efforts that would not be classed as "news." In a university of as many students as this one, there are, no doubt, a number of students with ability and inclination to write original stories and poems if the occasion were afforded, and with experience some might develop into writers of note. Several of our best known writers of to-day began their literary career in their college magazine. Let this have place in your thoughts and some one will win honor by being the first one to take this step. It is only a matter of time, for the time is sure to come when we shall have a literary magazine.

Columbian Debating Society Election

It is very important that every member of the Columbian Debating Society be present promptly at 8 o'clock P. M., Friday, October 20th, as the officers for the First Semester will be elected.

Association of Class Presidents

The Association of Class Presidents will hold its first meeting of the year on October 22nd, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the Medical building. All presidents of last year's classes and newly elected presidents and temporary chairmen of the present classes are expected to be present. The Association of last year will submit its report and formally organize for the present session.

Several important matters will be discussed and it is very necessary that representatives from all the classes be present. Plans for the Students' Ball will be brought forward. Last year the Association suggested to the ladies having charge of the Ball, that it be held early in December this year, instead of later in the winter. The idea was adopted by them and they asked the hearty co-operation of the Association in making the Ball the feature of the year.

The plans of the Mall will be presented and steps taken toward a systematic organization of the work for the year.

Needham Debating Society

The third meeting of the Needham Debating Society was attended by an enthusiastic body of thoroughly representative students, seniors, juniors and freshman. Old members got together, after the summer vacation, and extended the hand of fellowship to the new students and prospective members.

After the opening remarks and appointment of judges, the regular debate was taken up. The question, restriction of immigration into the United States to 200,000 annually, was handled by the two parties with a force and vigor that rendered the task of the judges a difficult one. But the affirmative side, defended by Messrs. Smith, Taylor and Christenson, was finally adjudged defeated and both first and second honors were awarded to the negatives, Messrs. Louis, Lundy and Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy, first honor, was especially strong on the rebuttal and backed up with telling force, the well chosen and conclusive statistics of Mr. Lundy, second honor. During the general debate which followed a majority of the new men present, Messrs. Henhall, Phillips, Patterson and others, gave their views on the topic of the evening in a way that promises well for the future of the Society's new material in the coming year. Especial interest was given this open discussion by the remarks of Mr. Phillips as to the opinion one forms of our future citizens from the standpoint of one employe of the Immigration Bureau at Ellis Island; he having been connected with that branch of the government.

After a short recess, during which a number of names were added to the roll, the regular business of the evening was resumed. Mr. James F. Patterson, first year law, was unanimously elected press representative and secretary; it having been ascertained that the former incumbent, Mr. Crane, would not be able to be with us this year. A few general remarks as to the aggressive policy of the society for the present year presented and the meeting then adjourned.

Columbian Debating Society

At the regular meeting of the Columbian Debating Society, Friday evening, the following question was discussed:

Resolved, That it would be for the best interests not only of the indigent insane of the district, but also for those of its taxpayers, to establish an institution for the indigent insane of the District separate from the Government Hospital for the Insane, St. Elizabeth. The affirmative was supported by Messrs. H. W. Myers and L. A. McGee; and the negative was sustained by Messrs. A. G. Flowers and A. C. Agnew. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative, and awarded first honors to Mr. Myers and second to Mr. Flowers.

At a business meeting following the debate an amendment to the constitution was proposed by Mr. Fisher providing for a representative on the Inter-Collegiate Debating Committee of the Columbian Society, which has in the past had sole charge of the inter-collegiate debating interests of the University. It was also voted to suggest to the Needham Debating Society that a series of inter-society debates be held as during previous years.

The semi-annual election of officers will be held next Friday evening, and as a number of men have been mentioned for the several offices a lively contest is expected.

Dramatic Club

The second preliminary meeting of the Dramatic Club for the election of officers was held Friday evening at 6.30. The number of new students out and the interest manifested was very encouraging. It was decided to hold the election for officers Thursday, October 19th, at 6.30, in West Hall. It is especially desired that every one interested be present.

By a special arrangement all those who enter the club on or before that date will be admitted as charter members with all the accompanying privileges.

The annual class day races of Georgetown University, will take place on the Potomac on October 26th.

Dental Notes

On Wednesday, October 18, Dr. Wolf, demonstrator of Prosthetic Technics to the Freshman and Junior classes, will give a demonstration of the use of somnoforme in the infirmary. Somnoforme is an anaesthetic which has a good local reputation, so far as we can learn. To quote from Lockwood's catalogue, "Somnoforme is the invention of Dr. Rolland, Dean of the Dental School of Bordeaux, France. Dr. Rolland has successfully administered somnoforme to 26,000 patients without a fatal case. Somnoforme is not an experiment. Hundreds of thousands of administrations have been given with it in Europe within the last four years with increased satisfaction to the dental and medical professions. In spite of English conservatism, more somnoforme is being used in Great Britain than in any other country." Numerous advantages are claimed for somnoforme over nitrous oxide for dental use.

Dr. Walton met the Senior and Junior classes Tuesday, October 11th, in the laboratories and announced the schedule for laboratory work. At present the Senior class is to take Prosthetic Technics with Dr. Walton on Monday and Wednesday, beginning with a lecture at 6.30. That is all right for Monday, but on Wednesday the item of dinner has been blue penciled, thus depriving the class of that opportunity to obtain nourishment so necessary to the animal economy; and of the further opportunity to hold sweet converse with the weary and somewhat disheveled restaurant waitress—the kind that listens with a bovine, far away I-hope-Jimmy-will-come-to-night expression while you give your order and then with equal abstraction calmly brings you something else.

Old friends may wander from our side and new ones take their place, but that old hoodoo, the German silver swage plate, still lingers and stares us in the face and takes away our appetite. Those who were fortunate enough to have finished this piece of work last year by having to make only 15 or 20 bad plates before getting a good one, have finished, and can go about their other business with a light heart and a clear conscience. The others, who hammered at this intractable piece of metal till their tongues hung out and the Janitor locked the doors for the year, must needs take up the white man's burden and push it to completion; for such is the edict of the demonstrator.

The Freshman class, as registered up to the present time, numbers twenty.

The Dental Laboratory is being taxed to its utmost to provide desks and lockers for all the first year men.

The only distinction the class claims at present is in having Mr.

Boorman, the 'Varsity center, enrolled with us.

A question which is causing much discussion amongst the dental students is whether each class should organize separately or whether the old association consisting of the three classes under one set of officers should be continued. Inasmuch as it is almost impossible to get the three classes together at meetings, and, further, since the objects to be gained by united action could be carried out by joint meetings of the three classes, it would seem best for each class to perfect an organization of its own.

Mr. Taylor, elected vice-president of the association last year, by virtue of the authority vested in him by the constitution of the Dental Association, has called a meeting of all classes of the dental school to be held Wednesday, October 18, at 7 p. m., in room 21, medical school. Everybody come, important.

The University Congress

A very enthusiastic meeting of the University Congress was held in University Hall last Saturday evening, and the interest manifested seemed to indicate a spirit of awakening along the whole line of University debating. Prof. Veditz of the faculty was present and in his usual energetic way indicated the requirements of a successful debater and urged the members to enter the Intercollegiate debating arena. "The House" resolved itself into a committee of the whole to discuss the general appropriation bill, and speaker Merritt of Arkansas, called Mr. Bone of Illinois to the chair. The Democrats in vigorous language denounced the policies of the Republican party as regards the tariff, reciprocity, etc., while the Republican members in strenuous manner ridiculed the position taken by the Democrats.

Enthusiastic speeches were made by Speaker Merritt of Arkansas, Hellerstedt of Tennessee, Baldwin of New York, Fravel of Virginia, Peterson of Michigan, Ramsey of Illinois, Winchester of Ohio and Christenson of Utah.

The sale of intoxicating liquors in the District will be the subject for discussion next Saturday evening. Messrs. Bone of Illinois and Christenson of Utah, will champion the measure, while Messrs. Fravel of Virginia and Ramsey of Illinois will oppose.

Many new members came into the organization, and the future outlook is very bright.

Season Tickets

The Athletic Association is offering season tickets for the foot ball games, for $2.00. There will be six games on the home grounds and the price of each separate ticket is fifty cents so that there is a saving of $1.00.

Canoe Club Won Three!

The Canoe Club of our University won three of the races held by the Inter-Club Canoe Association on Labor Day, September 14. These were: The Association Championship Single, won by Commodore W. Hamilton Smith, Jr.; The Novice Single, won by M. K. Harralson; and the Mixed Tandem, won by Miss Mildred Barrett and M. K. Harralson. The Canoe Club also came out second in the Association Championship Double, W. Hamilton Smith, Jr., and Joseph R. Curl representing our Club. The Club was represented in all the races, and won more events than any other Club that participated.

Virginia Debate Finals

The second preliminary for the Virginia Debate was held last Saturday night. The following men were chosen in the two preliminaries to compete in the finals next Saturday night. M. H. Burnstine, Louis Cohen, D. H. McLean, A. L. Newmyer, and L. G. Shelton, Law, '06; E. P. Gates, College, '06; J. T. Kennedy, Law, '07; C. A. Miller, Master of Diplomacy.

Each speaker will have twelve minutes in which to present his argument and those who spoke on the affirmative in the preliminary must support the negative this time and vice versa.

Masonic Club

The class of 1907 has again taken the initiative, and formed, an organization to be known as the Masonic Club. Its membership is limited to members of the Masonic order, and its object is to promote fellowship among the members of that order in the school.

The first meeting was held on last Tuesday, Mr. Hogg acting as temporary chairman. It was decided to meet again on Saturday, October 21 at 8 o'clock in Jurisprudence Hall for the purpose of adopting a constitution and completing its organization.

It is hoped to extend the organization to other classes at a later date, as some of the classes in the school number as many as twenty students eligible to the organization.

This is no new idea as there are similar organizations in all the large universities throughout the country, and there is no reason why George Washington should not be represented also.

Foot Ball Reform

Concerning the recent conference of Princeton, Harvard and Yale authorities at the White House, to talk over with President Roosevelt the cleansing of athletics, the Princeton Alumni weekly says:

"College graduates generally will be delighted that President Roosevelt has tackled the job of cleaning up college athletics, and will wish him as gratifying a measure of success as he has achieved recently as the peace-maker. To almost every one but a few of those entangled in the dominant theory of the game itself, it has been plain for some time that, unless football is radically reformed, this great American sport is doomed.

"It would be a work of supererogation to enter into a detailed enumeration of the evils of the present form and practice of the game of football; they are known to every one who has followed the game in recent years. A better indictment of these evils could not be found than these remarks published in the Daily Princetonian as part of an appeal to the students to support the team by daily attendance at practice and by cheering. Football, as played among the colleges to-day, has reached a stage where it is losing its element of sport and is becoming work of the hardest kind. The men on the squad are willing and determined to bend all their energies to make this work count for success.

"In other words, football is not played; it is work. Football is not sport; it is business. Players don't enjoy the game any more than the spectators, if as much. They play from a sense of duty, from devotion to alma mater—a conclusion reached by their older brothers long ago. But have their older brothers any right to demand such a sacrifice? And, if foot ball is no longer a sport, has it any place in college athletics, whose aim, presumably, is to provide a healthful and entertaining means of diversion and physical exercise for young men primarily engaged in intellectual tasks?"

Electric Club

The Electric Club of The George Washington University, has been formed, with a good membership, and a constitution and by-laws have been adopted. More particular information of this club will be given later.

Sophomore Election (College.)

College, '08, has gotten together and pulled off its election in good form. William Turkenton was unanimously chosen President, and Miss McMullen Vice-President. Mr. Fred G. Robinette was made Second Vice-President, Mr. J. R. Curl, Treasurer, Miss Eva Field, Secretary and Mr. Marshall Magruder, Manager of Soph. football team.

Memory

When Time's fell hand in future years
Shall steal from me the joy of life;
When with greyed head and long-dimmed eye
I stand onlooker at the strife;
Ah, then, I wis, shall Memory come
To soothe the round of dreary hours,
And at thy spirit touch I'll thrill,
As yesternight among the flowers
"Grub Street."

The visiting English football team which is touring American may meet a team of past and present Pennsylvania men on Franklin Field on October 24th in a game under the association rules.
